

36th City Council District

Robert E. Cornegy Jr. (D)

Good day. My name is Robert E. Cornegy, Jr. and I'm a candidate for the City Council, 36th District, covering Bed Stuy and Crown Heights.

I'm pretty hard to miss, not just because I'm 6'10"! I walk the streets of the district daily. I attend and participate in community board and precinct council meetings, block and tenant association meetings, neighborhood events, street fairs and festivals, and many community forums, often as a speaker on quality of life issues like public safety, jobs, housing, healthcare, aging, transportation and more.

This is nothing new. You've seen me do these things for many years well before I announced my candidacy. Central Brooklyn is my home. My family lives and worships here, my children go to school here and we receive our healthcare here. You are my neighbors. We always stand together.

I am your public servant, rooted in my faith, always looking to partner with others to make our neighborhoods a better place. As a council member, you'll need to count on someone that can create policy right from day one, grounded by years of experience in serving this very district.

You'll be voting as a Democrat, and need to count on someone that fully embraces the platform of our party which has, at its core, the expansion of civil and human rights.

You'll need someone with strong relationships with our elected officials so that city, state, and federal resources can be brought to bear to improve quality of life and continue Central Brooklyn's exciting momentum forward.

I am that person you can count on in the council because you've already counted on me for many years, not because I'm running for office, but because you've trusted me to be your advocate. I'm Robert E. Cornegy, Jr. and I'm counting on your vote on Election Day.
