

3rd City Council District

Corey D. Johnson (D)

Hi my name is Corey Johnson and I'm running for City Council in the 3rd district. I've lived in Chelsea the past 10 years, been an activist the past 12 years and been your voice on the local community board the past 8 years. I know and love this community. From the West Village to Hell's Kitchen, West Soho to Chelsea District 3 deserves a strong and progressive voice on the council. I will be that voice. I will fight for permanent affordable housing, support local small businesses that our communities treasure, and do more to ensure our city is environmentally sustainable protect parks and create more public open spaces. I will represent you on the many important issues of our time like fighting for living wage jobs so that New York City remains a progressive beacon the rest of the country looks to. I'll push back on short-sighted funding cuts to our public school system and I'll fight to reduce class sizes. I have been a strong independent voice in the community standing up in opposition to the Chelsea Market redevelopment, the NYU expansion and fighting the closure of St. Vincent's. I am proud to have been endorsed by Congressman Jerry Nadler, Former State Senator Tom Duane, Senator Brad Hoylman, Assembly members Dick Gottfried and Linda B. Rosenthal and over 600 community leaders and activists. On Primary day September 10 join us in our fight to keep city government more progressive and let's move our community forward.

Reprinted as supplied by the candidate. Participating in the Campaign Finance Program.